About This Workspace

The lower ground is where the arithmetic works. 4 Hill Street is a period townhouse a few doors from Berkeley Square, on a street laid out in the 1740s, and this is the front room below the pavement: open-plan, furnished, high-ceilinged for a basement, with the reception upstairs staffed through the day and the door open to you around the clock. It is a front room, so the light comes from the street side, which suits people who are out at meetings more than in. Green Park is about seven minutes on foot. Take the rear room as well and the whole lower ground is yours.
