About This Workspace

Conduit Place is a short side street off Praed Street, which gives the ground floor here the station for a neighbor. The building's entrance and reception are on this level, so your floor is the one visitors see first. A former warehouse, now being refurbished: exposed masonry kept, new cooling, LED lighting, a lift, showers and cycle storage, two parking spaces. Paddington's Praed Street entrance is two minutes on foot. A ground floor is the floor people look into, which makes it right for a company that wants to be seen.
